ATTENDANCE Around 36 members attended our first full club meeting of the new Rotary year and first since the lockdown, at the Country Club. After whizzing up the new driveway we were greeted by Marion and seated in a format with less members per table. Apologies were received from Nepal Ghosh, Peter Murray, Alf Barzen, Ellen Brasier and David Kennedy.

There was a slight hitch at the attendance table when contactless payment was not available due to a ‘technical difficulty’- some members had to be reminded what ‘cash’ consisted of. I am assured that the card payment will definitely be available next week.

DON’T FORGET to arrange for a replacement if you can’t fulfil a job allocated to you on the roster; and please let the bulletin reporter know of the change arranged.

SHORT & SWEET

Graeme Callander a Tuba player, regaled us with a glance into his past as a brass band member. He had intended to start by playing for us a version of a composition ‘Celebrate Rotary’ by one of the most acclaimed Brass Bands, the Black Dyke Band. More ‘technical difficulties’ prevented this, but I have included a link to the performance on you tube, below, for your pleasure.

Graeme recalled his early days of band activity on Anzac Day and showed us how that activity expanded when he went to Moree and became a member of the Moree and District Band, with performances at a wide variety of locations Gunnedah, Tamworth, Narrabri and a classic when the Moree Band was invited to perform in Sydney.

FINESMASTER

Gerry Page stepped in to fill a roster gap by reviving some of a session he gave in 2005 for the 75th club anniversary. He noted that in our 90 years – we've come from the Roaring Twenties, through the 'Fighting Forties', turned the century into to what has been referred to as the 'Nervous Noughties.' with the millennium bug; and now were into the 'Tricky Twenties' with the Covid bug. Gerry simulated what a 1930s fines session might have been like focusing on the emerging 'useless' wireless and television inventions, those 'big boys toys', motor cars, Bradman cricket tragics and Phar Lap.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS:

New president David Payne addressed the meeting. David indicated that he was honoured to be able to lead this club as a unit of the wonderful international organisation which Rotary has become. He is impressed with the great spirit evident within the club. He urged us to rise to give acclaim to our retiring President David Friedlieb, noting that he has big shoes to fill. He noted David's impressive leadership, as seen by him at club and board meetings, in his responses in dealing with the unusual circumstances encountered in the Covid lockdown by successfully mounting Zoom meetings to keep the club dynamic alive, and in forcibly representing the club's point of view in the troubled aspects of the District merger. He presented Past President David with the club banner from his year as a keep-sake. President David thanked board members who have stepped forward especially a number of key individuals, some of which have served in their roles over some years.

He distributed the list showing the committees to which members have been allocated, and urged any members having other preferences to let him know and indicated that members should feel free to contact him about any aspects of the club during the year.

David would like to continue with the idea of having meeting format alternated between Guest Speaker nights and others with club business. Board meetings would be held on club nights. Perhaps there will be opportunities to have more speakers from within the club. He would like to see committee meetings listed in the roster within the Bulletin. David maintains a 'watching brief' on holding a full club changeover function with partners and guests.

Graham Russell was invited to give an analysis about the situation with Book Fairs, given the possible scenario that we may run one in October and then in our usual slot of May. Graham indicated that it is quite unclear what conditions may apply to a Book Fair in October, in regard to numbers allowable in the venue, distancing, sanitizing, public perceptions etc., so that we will need to continue monitoring developments. In regard to the stock situation we already have full pallets in excess of what is needed for a Book Fair. Much of the considerable quantity of unsorted material which had accumulated and book donations being received has been in poor condition, so that the Tuesday sorting focuses heavily on culling, and space is limited at present for staging a full club sorting night, especially in winter conditions. Graham will continue to review the situation.

We ended the night with recitation of the Rotary Four Way Test in lieu of singing the National Anthem.

THE 'HAPPY SNAPS' FROM THIS WEEK: -

"Cash only thanks"

PS: Vacancies: jigsaw checkers

The 'Heather' mentioned in this excerpt from SMH Column 8 this week, was complaining about second-hand jigsaws with missing pieces. If Lifeline Canberra has jigsaw checkers on the job there is obviously an opening for some jigsaw checkers to count items in our box-full of jigsaws, for Wagga Rotary Book Fair – apply now!

Phil Armour of Yass thinks Heather should direct her husband to eBay where he will find plenty of jigsaws for sale courtesy of Lifeline Bookfair Warehouse in Canberra. "Lifeline has sold thousands of dollars worth of items including jigsaws of all levels that have been thoroughly checked so that there are no missing pieces. And you will be supporting the valuable work of our Lifeline councillors in these difficult times." Granny remains hopeful that when the post-COVID plaudits are handed out, the jigsaw-checkers get a guernsey.
